WHEREAS in the eleventh section of the Dispensary Houses (Ireland) Act, 1879, power is given to any owner to sell or lease to the board of guardians of any union certain lands for the purposes therein defined, and such board of guardians may purchase or take on lease, in the case of sale for consideration, or in case of lease at such rent for such term of years (not being more than sixty years), any land not being more than five acres, subject to the conditions set forth in said section :

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Dispensary Houses (Ireland) Act (1879) Amendment Act, 1890. Short title.

2. From and after the passing of this Act the limitation (not being more than sixty years) in the case of a lease for a term of years in the eleventh section of the Dispensary Houses (Ireland) Act, 1879, shall be and is hereby repealed, and instead thereof any owner may sell or lease to the board of guardians of any union, and such board of guardians may purchase or take on lease subject to the conditions contained in the said section, except such as are hereby repealed, any land : Provided always, that in case of lease for a term of years the said term shall not be less than sixty years.
